

The Josh Moore Fulfilling Your Dreams Foundation was established to reward young men and women who consistently display unselfish acts and have made choices that are examples of Christian morals and values. This organization hopes to recognize those young people who do things because they see situations that need addressed or act upon them just because it is the right thing to do. For this reason, non-mandated community service or volunteerism is the main requirement. Josh Moore was a young adult who always put aside his personal plans to help others. He never walked past someone in need of help; and when he was offered a payment, his response was always, "You owe me nothing." In order to keep alive his spirit of giving, the hopes of those who manage this foundation are to provide funds for activities that benefit wildlife, the environment, the safety of young people in the community, or to personally assist a young person between the ages of 14 to 21 with an individual goal who has previously shown that he or she has made personal sacrifices to help others.

For more information, to download an application, to nominate someone for an award, to make an online donation, to see a complete list of previous award recipients, or to see photos of previous JMFYDMF events, please visit www.jmfulfillingyourdreams.org

Please remember, while applicants can request help to fund education expenses, the awards are not only scholarships! Awards have been made to help fund community projects, charity events and travel for missionary work. Volunteerism is the main requirement and the potential uses for the award are only limited by an applicant's creativity, passion and desire to make a difference!!
